

Dear Mum, Dad and Everyone,

Maureen was right! I should have packed my umbrella because it has been raining ever since I arrived. Cousin Frank says that May is their rainy season. Just my luck! First I just sat in their burrow playing 'chase the earthworm.' After a whole day of sitting about I decided to go for a walk but it rained and rained and rained.

When I got back to the burrow it was flooded and my suitcase was floating around in a puddle. I opened my suitcase and everything was soaked. Even my pants! Imagine that. I had to put on wet pants when I woke up in the morning! Urrggggghhhh! Would you like that?

Everything is cold and wet so I am going to have to wave goodbye. I am travelling over the water to an island called Madagascar. Watch the movie. It is as funny as a meerkat wearing wet pants. Unless you are wearing them!

Love and dripping undies,

Soggy Sunny

P.S. If you come here, don't come in the rainy season.
